

Advisory meets twice

The presidential search and selection advisory committee met Wednesday afternoon to elect a vice chairperson and to consider subcommittee reports.

At a closed meeting on April 5 the committee discussed the election of a permanent chairperson. Gwendolyn Norrell, chairwoman of the Steering Committee and temporary chairwoman of the advisory committee, said that the committee has submitted a name to the Board of Trustees for consideration.

The search and selection procedure calls for joint selection of the advisory committee chairperson by the board and the committee from among the tenured faculty members at the University.
